

In recent years we have seen an authoritarian drift in Russia where political decent has been suppressed, there has been new restrictions, new laws brought in to control NGOs and there has been growth of xenophobia, racism tendencies and of course impunity in Chechnya continues to give Amnesty International great concern.